PERSONAL REFLECTION AND DOING THE PROJECT INCLUDING WHAT I HAVE TO SAY

Not only can it be said that I had an opportunity to do a documentary which requires a lot of technical insight and know how in the processes of putting together projects in this process I have learned the importance of meeting deadlines and even setting deadlines in order to achieve specific desired goals.

Therefore the not only have I met an icon and had the opportunity to find out of an important aspect of our history but I have also learned about the processes undergone to produce documentaries.

However this projects core significance lay in the discovering of an important icons and values that guided liberation of women in our country particularly in my community.

Through my interviewee I also had the opportunity to learn about the various stake holders that play an important role in the development of women in South Africa. The fact that men and other groups also had to be actively involvement in the re addressing of women's role in society greatly.

Of highest importance in the development of women in South Africa is sustainability in continuous active role fulfilment in women in South Africa. It is important as well that we fully understand the important steps that have to be undergone in the development of women in our country we need to adhere to the importance of beginning in our daily lives respecting one another and then our mothers, fathers brothers and sisters this process can only be significant if it is valued and fully elaborated to all particularly the youth who also have a challenge accessing all opportunities that are fully made available to them currently.

Doing this project was an opportunity for me to net work and learns of various dynamics that are under gone in putting together projects and making thing work. Of highest importance was meeting Mutlalepule Chabaku who is an icon not only my community but in South Africa.
