

Topic value for the community

I think this topic is important because it aims at digging out the unwritten history of the community. Our elders will be happy to see that the young generation is concerned to know the past.

Furthermore the topic teaches us, today's youth, about the crucial and important role of a leader. It also seeks to teach today's youth that the grandparents are an important source of information so we need to respect and value them. The elderly people now have a reason, without any fear, to communicate with the youth about the past events that occurred. This means that the community heritage will be retained and can be preserved.
